Connecting with our Community -
Making a Difference

We are involved in outreach in our Ventura County communities, educating and increasing awareness about the risks and realities of alcohol and drug misuse and abuse. Typically, we are out and about, meeting people in your communities, sharing our publications and giving presentations to community groups and parents. During this time of COVID-19 and social distancing, we want to continue our connection with everyone, as our message about substance use risks are especially important during these times. Please continue to contact me about ways we can meet and talk to each other, through phone contact, online meetings and more. This is a new way for us to stay in touch, and for you to have a way to share your stories too.

Message from Erika

As a Community Services Coordinator, it has been a difficult transition to work from home. Specifically, in continuing community outreach prevention efforts without being out in the community. My transition comes with two kids at home, in need of help with daily class assignments and planned activities to help them stay busy at home. Attempting to maintain a normal routine while juggling drastic changes can drain anyone and make you want to pull your hairs out! I can definitely relate to that. We need to remember that education and prevention are key in helping us maintain healthy habits.

Educating ourselves in what is healthy for us, such as exercising, family game time, eating healthy and what can harm us, such as over eating, drinking alcohol, or smoking, is a great way to start and once we know the information, we can work on preventing those unhealthy choices. What helps me maintain balance is keeping a routine and staying organized. Setting up a schedule for the kids will help them stay busy and will help you stay on top of things. It also helps to take some time for yourself to relax and come back to the present, even if it is just five minutes. Check out our Building Healthy Habits Campaign at www.vcbh.org/habits and www.vcbh.org/habitos and feel free to share with others.
